What causes a red lightning bolt? - Quora

It depends on whether you are looking at low altitude (terrestrial) or high-altitude lightning. Red, orange, or yellow terrestrial lightning is caused by the presence of fine dust or smoke particles suspended in the atmosphere between the bolt and the observer.

What Causes Red Lightning? | Reference.com

Red lightning is created by the excitation of nitrogen molecules in the atmosphere. It is produced above the clouds during storms. The red lights produced also are known as sprites. Lightning is produced when electrical fields build up in the clouds as liquid and ice particles collide. These
