Topping the special read-alouds list is The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane by Kate DiCamillo. I can't even explain how much I adore this book. I don't go through a school year without it and I long for the moment I get to read it to my students. I love watching them devour every word, every event. For me, their excitement makes me feel like I am reading it for the first time. Since I love

The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane - Kate DiCamillo

Edward Tulane is a china rabbit with an extensive wardrobe. He belongs to 10-year-old Abilene, who thinks almost as highly of Edward as Edward does of himself. Even young children will soon realize that Edward is riding for a fall. And fall he does, into the sea, after mean boys rip him from Abilene's hands during an ocean voyage. Thus begins Edward's journey from watery grave to the gentle
